The regular annual meeting of the Rich-

Street Presbyterian church-the president, as flowers sweeten the summer air.

Virtues-Industry, Diligence, and Honesty, It was both logical and eminently practical. The boys and the two female asylums' girls, who were present, seemed much in-terested. Good seed were doubtless sown in this rich, virgin soil. The singing was under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Gill.

The boys acquitted themselves very well. The following officers and directors were unanimously elected for the ensuing year: Dr. W. W. Parker, president; Dr. W. H. Gwathmey, first vice-president; R. P. Richardson, second vice-president; James Gordon, third vice-president; Thomas W. McCance, treasurer; Robert E. Richardson, secretary; Board of Managers-Wil-liam H. Pleasants, Charles D. Hill, S. H. Hawes, T. J. Todd, T. J. Evans, Rev. W. C. Schaeffer, Robert H. Bosher, Robert F. Williams, John S. Ellett, Maxwell T. Clarke, P. A. Sublett (vice George W. sublett, resigned). The meeting then adjourned with the benediction by Rev. Mr. Kerr.

Rev. W. J. E. Cox was ordained pastor at Leigh-Street Baptist church Sunday. The ordination sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. J. R. Garlick, a former pastor of this church. Rev. W. W. Landrum de-livered the charge, Rev. W. E. Hatcher the charge to the church, and Rev. Mr. Shipman led in the ordaining prayer. Rev. Dr. J. G. Armstrong preached an affecting farewell sermon to his congrega-

RICHMOND COLLEGE.

Celebration of the Two Literary Societies-Address To-Night.

A brilliant though not an overflowing audience gathered last evening at the Col-lege. The grounds, so much improved of were illuminated, and the chapel was gracefully draped in festoons of green and made redolent with the fra-grance of fresh cedar; the speaker's stand was fastefully decorated with shrubs and flowers, and a band discoursed sweet music at intervals throughout the evening.

The occasion was the annual celebration of the two literary societies. After prayer by Rev. R. R. Acree, of Lynchburg, Mr. F. W. McKay, of Warren county, Va., president of the Mu Sigma Rho Society, fitly welcomed the audience, acknowledged the many obligations of the students gath-ered here to the citizens of Richmond, and brought down the house by an allusion to the "small-pox" of last winter. He then introduced Mr. W. J. H. Bobannon, of Matthews county, Va., orator of the Philological gian Society.

Mr. Bohannon sketched briefly the ori-

as various as they were numerous; of demigods and heroes, the embodiments of rude virtues and of allegories, which still teach wisdom in most bewitching dress. His recital of the myth of Pandora, or the creation of woman, won the gratified smiles of the fair sex and the more demonand how to stop.

After more music, Mr. H. W. Tribble, of Caroline county, Va., president of the Philologian Society, introduced the orator of the Mu Sigma Rho, Mr. George C. Bundick, of Accomac county, who came to the defence of labor against the theories of pessimism. In glowing periods, clearly and distinctly delivered, he passed in review the ceaseless movements of seas and planets, and of all things that have the breath of life. From ancient lore and philosophic observation he drew strong arguments to prove the true dignity of arguments to prove the true dignity of labor, and earnest appeals for the respectability of the industrious. As he proceeded to show that all excellence is the result of long-continued and arduous work he was once and again interrupted with well will be shown to be show

The weather was in direct contrast with that of Saturday—sky bright, atmosphere quiet and balmy, and ground in very fine condition—and every one anticipated a splendid display of ball-playing. The home boys, however, played in very bad luck, making several ugly errors and failing to hit Murphy for more than five scat-tering singles and one three-bagger (by Nash), while the visitors batted Doyle severely, and by lucky bunching of hits, combined with their opponents' errors, scored all of their runs in the first five innings. Their play at bat and in the field was frequently applauded. In the first inning an accident occurred to one of the players which will incapacitate of the players which will incapacitate him from playing during the remainder of the season. Shay, the Virginias' new catcher, in attempting to stop a wild pitch by Doyle was struck on the end of the third finger of his right hand, the ball breaking the bone between the first and second joints and bursting the fleet Shar second joints and bursting the flesh. Shay immediately left the field and received medical attention. This unfortunate occurrence delayed the game about ten minutes, while W. Dugan prepared himself to take the injured man's place. The features of the game on the part of the home team was Smiley's fine short-stop work, particularly his beautiful play in stopping a hot-grounder from Schenck's bat, and getting Mr. Bobannon sketched briefly the origin of Mythology; then graphically portrayed in outline the most complex and Glenn's and Powell's perfect fielding; beautiful of all the creations of Greek Stratton's slow fielding, which lost a run; and Johnston's muffing a fly in the centre and Johnston's muffing a fly in the centre field, thereby losing two runs. yesterday was not near as satisfactory as that played Saturday under the most rse circumstances. As stated in Dispatch Sunday morning, the adverse

In the afternoon an elaborate and very interesting programme was successfully carried out. The church was filled to its utmost capacity, the Sunday school occupying the galleries. The pulpit was re-moved, and on the platform two evergreen ladders formed a frame, on which were hung the children's offerings in beautiful baskets of flowers. The chancel and pulpitrecess were beautifully ornamented with flowers and evergreens-the names of latter the name of the Wesleyan woman who suggested to Robert Raikes the plan Sunday schools), prominently displayed. The recitations by the children were finely rendered, alternating with singing by the school, Mr. Ramos presiding at the organ.

An address was delivered by Rev. John Teachers of public-schools will be paid Hannon, D. D., unique, fresh, and pointed, and a responsive service by the superintendent, and the school gave a statement of the occasion, the origin of Methodism, now celebrating its centenary, and statis-tics of its growth and Sunday-school work in America, and especially the South. The ceremony of making the offering (to which the congregation added a collection) was a lovely sight, the baskets being carried up by little boys and girls in an ingenious manner, each reciting some verse of Scrit-ture, and the column ending with a "little one" on each side, a very "lamb" of the flock, as beautiful and innocent-looking as any lamb with snowy fleece. The whole affair left a pleasant and beneficial impres-

There is no country upon the face of the globe whose people are so thoroughly mbued with the spirit of travel as that of Uncle Sam. There seems to be an inborn desire in the breast of the Yankee, no matter where he may be, to be somewhere else, and it is no doubt to the demand of this very spirit of unrest we owe the wonderful facilities granted by the great rail-

A few days ago business demanded me in Chicago. At 9 A. M. I left New York on the "Limited," and in twenty-four hours found myself, without fatigue, in Chicago. Of all my trips about the world this appeared to me the most perfect, and for many reasons. The management of this train is something magical. Every want is supplied, and in a manner that would be difficult to improve upon. The meals in the diming-car are a matter of surprise not only in the quality of the material used, but in the superior style m which it is cooked and served.

All sorts of travelling conveniences are
